Gulf War Recession (1990–91): Economic slowdown caused by rising oil prices, tighter monetary policy, and uncertainty surrounding the Gulf War, leading to weaker consumer and business activity.

Dot-Com Recession (2001): A downturn driven by the collapse of the technology bubble, reduced business investment, and the aftermath of the September 11 attacks.

Great Recession (2008–09): A severe financial crisis triggered by the housing market collapse and banking failures, causing a major decline in economic activity and a sharp rise in unemployment.

2020 COVID-19 Recession: GDP dropped sharply, unemployment spiked, and the Federal Reserve cut rates to near zero.
